

Channelling from the Councils of Light

By Jasmine Safi

A message of hope

Our Universal parents of heaven and earth remind us that the divine is unpredictable just as the laws of nature are. We tell you this VIRUS is the ugliness of power. It was created by the action of mans disregard for life and nature. When you combine human action that is careless, reckless & irresponsible with nature, the unnatural occurs whether its intentional or not.

We understand you need to find reason to make sense of this madness. Yet you are all part of the madness, the collective consciousness, and all its diversity of expanded thoughts and vibrations. Have you not seen in the last few weeks this same madness in each other? We call this lower consciousness- it's where fear dwells and takes hold of reason, integrity and respect.

What has the darkness always taught you? It's the lever that jolts you to a greater way of being. Ugliness, corruption, greed and power, the source of all our fears had hold of that lever that jolted the light of humanity into action.

We want to remind you that you are the hope you've always been the hope. You will never forget the time when your world stopped, when your world took it's first breath after death and grief to rejuvenate heal and transform, and how in the stillness emerged a new reflection of reality. You will never forget how precious life and nature is for this is not the end its just the beginning.

This global shift will in time change many things. We tell you your media is going to change, remember the darkness pushes us to truth- censorship will change, their focus is going to change, news of truth will be their focus.

Through this tragedy minds will open, and the voice of awakening will be uncensored and the truth will be the flavour of the day.
